Dear Suzanne,

While reading all those books of fantasy,
Did you wonder, of what is, or what can be?

Ability to cast a long lasting proper functioning spell,
Difference between magic-heaven and boring muggle hell.

True, you never got a Hogwart's invitation letter,
But think again, does that really matter?

For magic is not limited to cauldron potions or waving a wand,
It's the general perception of what you can do, and others can't.

Between heaven and earth, there is so much more to be,
Accepted particles, like electrons, no human did ever see!

Boundless are our universe and your imaginations,
dare reaching higher, crush self imposed limitations.

Dream daring of what you might be,
Dream with open eyes, of what you wanna see.

Meow.
